Beat the Brooklyns by a Score of 20 to 2 and Regain First Place in the Race -Pittsburg Champions Receive a Ninthinning Surprise From the Chicagos.

The New York Nationals regained first place in their loague yesterday. While they lanche of runs the Chicagos were beating the Pittsburgs No other National League games were played. The Brooklyns were passed by Chicago and Boston and fell back irro the second division. Results of yes-terday's games:

NEW YORK (N. L.), 29; BROOKLYN, 2.

"You're playing like a lot of schoolboyst" yelled a spectator at Washington Park yesterday to the Brooklyns. The spectator put it mildly. The Brooklyns played like infants in arms and ware beaten with farcical case by the New Yorks (Nationals). The New Yorks raced around the bases in droves. They batted two Brooklyn pitchers to all polats of the compass, and between their filts and the leverish fielding of the Brooklyns they stacked up twenty runs.

The game was such a poor one from the standpoint of a contest that it was really entertaining. Some things are enjoyable because they are so very bad. Yet it was no fault of the New Yorks that the contest was bad. They did their part in first-class style, but it takes two to make a stringle as well as a bargain.

The trouble began for Brooklyn in the second inning when Jacklitsch misjudged Bresnahan's lick to centre. The hit scored two runs. Then Jacklitsch misjudged McGirnity's fly and another run came in. Haying shown that as an outfielder he was a failure, Jacklitsch resigned in favor of Thielman. Thielman made one of Brooklyn's tellies, a home run smash, the ball setting mast Dunn and zolling to the centre field fence.

Haying had a taste of scoring, the New Yorks fairly gorzed themselves for the remainder of the same. By good fielding they also saw to it that the Brooklyns fasted while they feasted. McGinnity pitched a strong game for the New Yorks.

It was "getaway day," and the sharp-witted persons were on the alert for special tricks. The perfect spring weather drew out another fine crowd of 8.000, which was a fitting climax for a most successful meeting. Incidentally Congressman Timothy D. Sullivan scorod a marked triumph when Setauket, running in his colors, carried off the event of the day, the Crotana Stakes for three-year-olds and upward at a mile and seventy yards. Colonist was a steady favorite at 8 to 5, while Setauket receded from that figure to 214 to 1, as there was a heavy play on Embarrassment, who was lowered from sevens to fours.

The start ruined Colonist's chances, for he

While the horses were walking around in the paddock for the first race, a man with a silk hat had a narrow escape from fatal injury. He got too near Minotaur, who suddenly kicked up his heels, and one of them struck the brim of the tile within an inch of the man's nose and hurled it high in the air. The owner of the hat was so frightened that he immediately left the track to recover his nerve.

Jack Martin won first honors in riding, yesterday, with a winner, a second and a third. Fuller had a winner and a second, and little Wilkerson two seconds.

It was reported at the track that Fred Taral is again the star jockey on the Austrian turf this season.

Prince of Arragon, after leaving the paddock for the fifth event, came near running away with little Austin. The colt was finally brought to a standstill at the post, but many who saw his wild behavior ran back to the ring to get down a bet.

will be opened to the public this afternoon inaugurating the spring meeting of the Westchester flucing Association. With clear skies and a bright sun, it is expected that 30,000 persons will watch the sport of kings. For years turfmen have conceded the fact that "real racing" does not begin until the sport at Westchester begins, and for that reason the magnificent card prepared for to-day will act as a magnet on thousands who have refrained from going to Aqueduct and Jamaica for the proverbial appetizers.

Marria Park always opens with the rich Metropolitan Handicap at a mile, which this year will be worth about $15,000. For this much-talked of event a field of twenty-three starters has been named, which guarantees possibly a dozen and a half to go to the post. The ball was bounding straight for Westchester's goal and was almost within the goal posts when young Gould, with a flerce back stroke, sent it across the field.

George J. Gould caught it and made a splendid drive down the fleld. Then there was a pretty race between Mr. Gould and "Jimmy" Cooley. Cotton, Mr. Gould's mount, showed his heels to Mr. Cooley's pony, and Mr. Gould sent the sphere within a few feet of the goal. Jay Gould was right behind him and drove in goal.

Informal polo practice only was indulged in yesterday at van Cortlandt Park by the Squadron A polo members. The road coach made its second trip from the Savoy Hotel to the polo grounds. George E. Fahy drove and R. G. D. Douglas was the host, among his guests being G. A. Fowler, M. E. Fowler, O. A. Fowler and Miss E. A. Fowler.

THE BULLET II. A FLYER.

CLEVELAND, May 6.—One mile in 1 minute and 2 seconds, one-fourth of a second better performance at the Glenville track yester-day of the Bullet II., with which Alex Winton hopes to win the 300-mile race for the Gordon-Bennett international auto cup in Ireland on July 2. It was the first trial of the newest racing car built by Winton.

The Bullet II, resembles to a marked de-

The Bullet II. resembles to a marked degree the first Bullet, with which Winton was so successful on the track. The average observer would see no difference, except that the gasolene tank on the new machine bulges above the body behind the seat, whereas on the first Bullet the tank was not in sight at all.

The new car has a 2-foot 6-inch wheel base, that is, from axie to axle, and is of the standard gauge, 4 feet 8 inches. The machinery hangs low. The body slants upward in front and down behind, in order to minimize wind resistance.

The most interesting feature of the new machine is that it is fitted with eight cylinders. The Winton that Percy Owen will use in the big race and the Bullet I, have four cylinders each and probably no other car ever before had more than four.

The Middies and Pennsylvania crews rowed last Saturday, but high winds and the wash of big steamers swamped the Pennsylvania lads. Then it was suggested that the Quakers make another try, and the date when the Annapolis meets the 1 ale second crew was agreed on. It has been six years since tale has met the Pennsylvanian on the water, and then it was at Poughkeepsie, when Cornell won, with 1 ale second and Pennsylvania third.

The work of the Yale crews the last few days has been chiefly in trying out the college crew that will row against Annapolis. The college crew it still rowing a trifle too high a stroke and the nien need a little more hard racing to steady them down. A significant change was made in the college crew to-day when Baily. No. 7, was taken out of the boat and Cross, who rowed last year on the Varsitiv, was put in his place.

Baily has a deficiency on his studies which is likely to keep him from participating in the Annapolis race.

The men shell, which was re-rigged from the English to the American style, was used to-day for the first time by the college crew and found to be satisfactory. An innovation introduced in the new boat is that it is fully four inches broader than last year's boat, and gives the men more play for their inboard work.
